This document identifies the requirements for the Food Safety Management System (FSMS), allowing an organization that is directly or indirectly involved in the food chain: (a) Plan, implement, operate, maintain and update FSMS that delivers safe products and services in accordance with their intended use; b) Demonstrate compliance with applicable food safety regulations and regulations; (c) Assess and evaluate the customer's mutually agreed food safety requirements and demonstrate compliance with them; d) Effectively communicate food safety issues to stakeholders within the food chain; Ensure that the organization meets its stated food safety policy; Demonstrate compliance with relevant stakeholders; (g) Apply for certification or registration of your FSMS by an external organization or make a self-assessment or self-control of compliance with this document. All requirements of this document are common and are intended for all food chain organizations, regardless of size and complexity. Organizations that are directly or indirectly involved include feed producers, feed producers, animal feed producers, wild plant and animal harvesters, farmers, ingredient producers, food producers, retailers and organizations providing catering services, catering services, cleaning and sanitation services, transportation, warehouse and distribution services, equipment suppliers, cleaning and disinfectants, packaging materials and other food materials. This document allows any organization, including small and/or less developed organizations (e.g. a small farm, a small distributor packer, a small retailer, or a grocery store), to incorporate externally designed items into their FSMS. Internal and/or external resources can be used to meet the requirements of this document.
